Season chronology

The seventh and final season of the American ABC fantasy-drama series Once Upon a Time was ordered on May 11, 2017.[1] It premiered on October 6, 2017, and concluded on May 18, 2018, having aired on Fridays instead of Sundays in prior seasons.[2] Lana Parrilla, Colin O'Donoghue, and Robert Carlyle return as principal cast members from the previous season, and are joined by new additions Andrew J. West, Alison Fernandez, Dania Ramirez, Gabrielle Anwar, and Mekia Cox. The storyline is softly rebooted[3][4][5] with a main narrative led by an adult Henry Mills (West), set several years after the previous season's events.

Existing fictional characters introduced to the series during the season include Tiana, Mother Gothel, Eudora, Dr. Facilier, Prince Naveen, Madame Leota, and Captain Ahab. The season also introduced new iterations of various characters from previous seasons, including Cinderella, Lady Tremaine, Drizella, Anastasia, Rapunzel, Jack, Hansel, Gretel, and the Blind Witch, as well as Alice, another version of whom previously appeared in Once Upon a Time in Wonderland.

Premise

Several years after the final battle, Henry Mills leaves Storybrooke in search of his own story, only to find himself in the New Enchanted Forest, where a conflict among its inhabitants culminates in the casting of a new curse that sends them to a Seattle neighborhood known as "Hyperion Heights", and back to the past, before Henry left Storybrooke. As Henry's daughter Lucy sets out to restore his belief, Mother Gothel seeks to reclaim her former home by using her Coven of the Eight, while Lady Tremaine, Drizella, Dr. Facilier, and Hansel pursue their own agendas. The eventual breaking of the curse leads to the arrival of the Wish Realm version of Rumplestiltskin, who seeks to destroy everyone's happiness. His defeat leads Regina to cast a good variation of the Dark Curse, which merges all the realms into one: the United Realms.

When Henry finds a glass slipper left for him at their meeting spot, he decides to stay behind. In present-day Seattle, an older Henry is reunited with his daughter Lucy, whom he does not remember because of a curse. In hopes of breaking it, Lucy leads him to her neighborhood of Hyperion Heights, home to many other cursed fairytale characters including Jacinda, Lucy's down-on-her-luck single mother who is in a contentious relationship with her powerful stepmother Victoria. Others include Roni (Regina Mills), a bar owner who is struggling with having to sell her establishment to Victoria, and Rogers (Wish Realm Hook), a cop who gets promoted to detective and is introduced to his new partner, Weaver (Rumplestiltskin).

Many years later, as Henry is about to be captured by Lady Tremaine, he uses the bottle to call on Emma, Hook, and Regina for help, unwittingly calling in Wish Realm Hook as well. In the present, Victoria hires Rogers and Weaver to drive Henry out of the neighborhood. Rogers does not agree with Weaver's methods and helps Henry, instead. Later, Cinderella sneaks into Tremaine's castle alone, where Tremaine reveals that she has kept her almost-deceased daughter Anastasia preserved since her "death" at age 14 and needs a pure heart to revive her. She tasks Cinderella with stealing Henry's, since he has the heart of the truest believer. In the present day, Jacinda tries to save Lucy's beloved community garden from Victoria, while Lucy takes a skeptical Henry on a trip under the garden lot in hopes of finding proof of everyone's fairytale pasts. Meanwhile, Henry, Roni, and Rogers find their first lead against Victoria. Rogers captures the man working with her, but is irritated to find Weaver setting the man free to use him as a future connection. It is then revealed that Victoria is not cursed and has been keeping a witch as her prisoner at the top of Belfrey Towers.

When Gideon is 18, Belle comes across a prophecy that leads them to the Edge of Realms, where they must wait for the sun's brightest set before they can be guided to the path Rumple must take to get rid of the Darkness. They build a home there as they wait for the event to occur. However, an aging Belle eventually admits that the "sun" of which the prophecy spoke was actually herself and that her death will mark the start of his journey. When Belle dies, Rumple sets off to search for a Guardian who will be able to take the Darkness from him, so that he can ultimately be reunited with Belle. In the present day, Roni struggles with what to believe about the mysterious photo, which is complicated by newly discovered information about "Regina Mills" into which Lucy encouraged her to look. Drizella gathers the ingredients for a plant that the witch then cultivates and, when she serves its essence to Roni, she wakes up and remembers her life as Regina. It is revealed that the curse took them back to the same time period shown in the flashbacks; it is currently Henry's graduation night. The adult Henry gives his younger self some advice, which gives him the push he needs to be okay with leaving home. When Henry finds Regina hurt by Gothel, he gives her true love's kiss, which breaks the curse over the entire neighborhood. Henry, Regina, Rumple, and Rogers travel to the Wish Realm to find Jacinda and Lucy. The group is split after crossing through, with Henry and Regina sent to the Dark Castle while Rumple and Rogers are sent to the Wish Realm's version of Rumple's old home. Henry obtains the Wish Realm's version of the Author's pen in the hopes of freeing them, but Wish Rumple reveals that he was after the pen and not the dagger. He then presents it to Wish Henry, who is willing to help him rewrite some stories after losing his mother and grandparents. He ends up erasing the Guardian's powers. Wish Rumple then sends Henry, Rumple, and Rogers into the snowglobe. Regina is left behind, as Wish Henry desires revenge after their last encounter. Wish Rumple then visits Wish Henry and reveals his plan to trap all other characters inside storybooks where they are destined for unhappy endings. When Henry comes to Regina's rescue, he's attacked by black knights, but Snow and David save them both. As Wish Henry and Regina comes face-to-face, the others begin to get dragged into the portals. Rogers grabs Alice to save her, leaving his heart in a dire state. Regina is able to reason with Wish Henry and he forfeits, closing the portals off. Production

Development

In January 2017, while the sixth season was still in production, ABC president Channing Dungey spoke of a possible "reset" of the series' narrative in the event that a seventh season is ordered.[76] After much speculation, executive producers Adam Horowitz and Edward Kitsis later confirmed that certain characters would have their storylines wrapped up and that the back-end of the sixth season had been written with the narrative change in mind.[77] Despite the major change, the showrunners have said that they do not view season seven as a complete reboot of the show. Horowitz said: "I hesitate to use the word 'reboot'. We're more thinking about it as a hybrid of a lot of things. We're paying homage to the original premise, but there are certain characters who are returning and some who are not. It's a combination of a lot of things, but what we're trying to do is go in a new direction but stay true to the spirit of what the show has always been."[78]

In July 2017, the showrunners announced that the season would be set in the fictitious Seattle neighborhood of Hyperion Heights, which was created under a new curse. Residents of this neighborhood included displaced characters from the original and new versions of the Enchanted Forest, as well as regular people from the Land Without Magic. This differs from Storybrooke in the first six seasons, which was an isolated town that was blocked off from real-world Maine. The initial villain is Lady Tremaine, who assumes the role of an urban developer who seeks to "gentrify the neighborhood" and push out and separate fairytale residents. Meanwhile, Storybrooke and various Fairy Tale Land locations still appear in the flashbacks of the season as the story bounces back and forth between the characters' lives before and during the latest curse.[79]

The main flashback setting of the seventh season is the New Enchanted Forest, which is a New Fairy Tale Land realm.[80] Other locations featured in flashbacks are the Edge of Realms, the Wish Realm, the New Wonderland, Oz, and Storybrooke. In February 2018, ABC announced that the series would end after this season.[81]

Casting

In May 2017, it was announced that Lana Parrilla, Colin O'Donoghue, and Robert Carlyle would be the only series regulars from season 6 to continue onto season 7.[6] The character of Henry would also return, but as a man in his late 20s-early 30s portrayed by Andrew J. West. It was teased that the four would be portraying their original characters but with cursed identities, similar to the circumstances in season 1. In July, the first promo of the season revealed that Killian is now a Seattle police officer with the last name Rogers, who is living with an unexplained sense of loss.[82] In August, it was revealed that Regina is now a bar owner named Roni, who is more dressed down and is "no longer in charge."[83]

Former main cast member Jennifer Morrison has confirmed that she has agreed to return for at least one episode, first appearing in the second episode of the season.[84][85] Morrison announced her last filming day for the episode on July 19, 2017.[86] On July 22, it was confirmed that Emilie de Ravin would return for the fourth episode of the season.[34]

In March 2017, Andrew J. West and Alison Fernandez were cast for unknown guest roles in the season 6 finale. During the episode, it was revealed that West was portraying an adult Henry Mills, while Fernandez portrayed his daughter, Lucy. After that episode's airing, they were confirmed as series regulars for season 7.[6] West took over the role from Jared S. Gilmore, who has been confirmed to appear in at least the first two episodes of the season.[13][87]

On July 6, 2017, it was announced that Dania Ramirez and Gabrielle Anwar would be two additional series regulars for season 7.[6] Additionally, Adelaide Kane, Mekia Cox, and Rose Reynolds were cast in recurring roles for the season.[6] On July 15, it was announced that Ramirez would be portraying Cinderella, albeit a different version from the one previously played by Jessy Schram for the first six seasons.[7] On July 22 at San Diego Comic-Con, it was revealed that Anwar and Kane will be portraying Lady Tremaine and Drizella, respectively. Cox would be portraying Tiana from The Princess and the Frog, while Reynolds would be playing an alternate version of Alice, a character previously featured in the spin-off Once Upon a Time in Wonderland.[82] In August 2017, Cox was promoted to series regular status.[12]

On August 1, it was announced that Giles Matthey would return as an adult Gideon for the season's fourth episode. The episode, also featuring de Ravin, would be centered around Rumple.[35] On that same day, it was also announced that Emma Booth was cast in a major recurring role as the Witch,[19] whose more specific identity would be revealed later on during the season.[88] On August 25, Kevin Ryan announced that he would be making an appearance as a new prince in the upcoming season.[89] On August 30, it was announced that Robin Givens had been cast as Tiana's mother, Eudora.[24]

On September 8, it was announced that Meegan Warner would be guest starring as an alternate version of Rapunzel, a character previously featured in the season 3 episode "The Tower".[25] It was later revealed that the character would appear in a multi-episode arc.[90] On September 20, it was announced that former regular Rebecca Mader would return for multiple episodes in the seventh season as Zelena, who would also have a cursed identity.[91][92]

On October 2, it was announced that Dr. Facilier from The Princess and the Frog would make an appearance during the season,[93] later revealed to be portrayed by Daniel Francis in the season's fifth episode.[22] On October 3, it was announced that flashbacks of the ninth episode would feature a "tweenage" Anastasia, Lady Tremaine's other biological daughter.[94]

On November 1, it was announced that Tiera Skovbye would be recurring as an older version of Robin, the daughter of Zelena and Robin Hood.[26] On November 2, it was announced that Nathan Parsons had been cast in a recurring role as Nick, a lawyer and potential love interest for another character.[28] On November 3, it was announced that the show was casting for the role of Naveen from The Princess and the Frog, who will be recurring in the second half of the season.[95] It was later revealed that the role would be played by Jeff Pierre, who first appeared in the twelfth episode of the season.[30] On November 16, actor Chad Rook announced that he had been cast in an unknown role, later revealed to be Captain Ahab in the thirteenth episode.[96]

On January 23, 2018, it was announced that Kip Pardue had been cast as Chad, Zelena's fiancé from when she was cursed as Kelly. He made his appearance in the seventeenth episode of the season.[43]

On March 16, it was announced that multiple former cast members were set to appear in one or both of the season's (and series') last two episodes. This includes former regulars Gilmore (who had also been confirmed to appear in the twentieth episode)[97] and Sean Maguire, as well as formerly recurring stars JoAnna Garcia Swisher, Victoria Smurfit, Robbie Kay, Beverley Elliott, Lee Arenberg, Keegan Connor Tracy and Tony Amendola.[50] On March 21, it was announced that Morrison and de Ravin would be back for a second time, along with Ginnifer Goodwin and Josh Dallas for the final episode of the series.[33] In addition, Raphael Sbarge, David Paul Grove, and Faustino Di Bauda confirmed that they would also appear in the finale.[54][53]
